- Personal Practice – log book
- Supervised Clinical Practice – log book
- Demonstration of Pilates equipment repertoire
- Teaching Pilates equipment classes (simulated activities within the learning environment and involves training peers)

Assessment for the Integrated Diploma of Contemporary Pilates and Teaching Methodology should wherever possible occur through workplace observation (a fully equipped Pilates studio/workplace with access to public clients) and in a clinical environment, with competency being developed through significant clinical experience.

Assessment of knowledge should occur through a combination of classroom assessments and workplace based assessment activities. Alternatively assessment of knowledge may be undertaken using online assessment methods and workplace based assessment activities or a combination of assessment methods.

Assessment of skill development should occur through a combination of classroom and workplace assessments.

If, for safety reasons it is not possible to conduct the assessments with public clients, the assessment may occur in a 'simulated workplace'. A 'simulated workplace' must occur in a Pilates studio/workplace with a full range of Pilate's equipment and access to other Pilate's students to undertake the required assessments.

Assessment methods include:

- questions – written and/or online and/or oral
- assignments
- scenario and problem solving activities
- role plays – instruction of small groups
- client assessments
- observation during workshops
- workplace observation/practice under supervision (200 hrs recorded in logbook)
- personal practice (150 hrs recorded in log book)
- major workplace project involving a client case study over the duration of the program

Reasonable adjustments to the assessment methodology may be made on a case-by-case basis.

Skills Development:

The Integrated Diploma of Contemporary Pilates and Teaching Methodology takes Pilates Instructors to the skill level required to continue post-rehabilitative work, as it provides the education and level of understanding to work more closely with allied health practitioners such as doctors, physiotherapists, chiropractors, osteopaths, Roling practitioners, massage therapists, nurses and midwives.

You will develop a sound, in-depth understanding of how Functional Anatomy and Somatics can be incorporated into your Contemporary Pilates repertoire.

This course gives you the skills to:

- Design and teach specialised Contemporary Pilates Matwork group classes at all levels.
- Design and teach Contemporary Pilates equipment and small apparatus sessions for a range of populations and client needs.
- Design and instruct personalised Contemporary Pilates training designed for varying levels, body and postural types for low to medium risk clients
- Include a variety of Pilates equipment and small apparatus into all of your sessions.
- Work confidently with post-rehabilitative clients.
- Confidently liaise with other Allied Health professionals.

Enrolment Fee:

A non-refundable enrolment fee applies to each enrolment.

Once you have completed the enrolment form and paid the non-refundable enrolment fee and deposit you will receive a login to enable you to undertake the Tensegrity Training online units for the course.
